

Abstract

- [183] A method for providing transactional billing for trusted third party services offered to a plurality of users via a computer network, the method including: generating at least one log record indicative of at least one of the users submitting at least one electronic document for trusted third party services; generating at least one log record indicative of forwarding the at least one electronic document to at least a second of the plurality of users; parsing the log records to generate billing information associated; and, providing the billing information to at least one processing application. The processing application processes the billing information and generates a plurality of bills dependently thereupon.